Job opening for lawyer

We are looking for an lawyer (m/f/d) to succeed a partner of our firm.

Are you an lawyer in the Frankfurt am Main metropolitan area who is looking for a stable, cooperative work environment with prospects of long-term partnership?

If so, we encourage you to get in touch with us!

We are looking for a colleague who enjoys the legal profession and is ready to join a thriving law and notary office.

The firm has a large clientele and offers exciting business prospects.

We are looking for a family law and inheritance law lawyer with a proven track record to succeed one of the partners at our Bad Vilbel office who wants to cut back her workload for age-related reasons.

In addition to performing legal work, you would also support the two notaries at our Bad Vilbel Office. In the short term, it would be desirable if, in addition to providing support in your capacity as an lawyer, you would also act as a representative of our notaries when needed. If you are interested, we would of course also support your own efforts to be trained and apply for appointment as a notary.

Due to the structure of our law firm, we are looking for a long-term commitment culminating in partnership and the assumption of top-level responsibilities, including management of the firm.

If you already have your own law office and clientele, we would be interested in having you join our firm as a partner as soon as possible.

Depending on your background, other forms of cooperation may also be an option at the beginning, e.g., freelancing or employment. We therefore look forward to receiving strong applications also from younger lawyers who have at least some professional experience in the aforementioned areas of law.

If you are not just looking for a job, but rather are following a calling and would like to shape the future of the firm with us, you are at the right address!

What we are looking for:

- Pleasant personality
- Reliable and organized work style
- Ability to handle cases independently, in particular in the areas of inheritance law and family law
- Personal interest in acquiring new clients on your own initiative
- Personal interest in notarial work (ideally you have already passed or plan to take the notary exam)

What we offer:

- Reasonable financial security/fair compensation
- Fully equipped office, including support staff
- Young or young-at-heart colleagues
- State-of-the-art IT technology with flexibility to work from any of our offices, including your home office
- Fair terms for joining and retiring from the firm

If you are interested in this position, we would be happy to meet you in person as soon as possible. While your credentials are important to us, we are more interested in your work philosophy and personality!
